A NOTE FROM DR. STEIN

This week we are reminded how much we have to be thankful for! We have a school with heat and electricity where we can worship God in freedom! Each morning we sing praises and read our Bibles, and we do not have to be worried about being caught, imprisoned, or having our rights taken away. A friend of mine recently came back from a mission trip to a Middle Eastern Country, where their Bible Studies have to be completed in secret! Several family members of the congregation have been imprisoned for their faith! It is illegal to read the Bible, and it is illegal to talk about the saving love of Jesus. If the officials find a person who refuses to denounce Jesus, torture is conducted to discover WHO taught them! The person who taught them is either beheaded or imprisoned! So, this week, we are focused on the blessings that surround us.

In Science this week the upper graders utilized a microscope to view the difference between plant and animal cells. We also looked at the difference between different types of connective tissue (tendons, fat, and muscle). Learning to mount a slide and about the different parts of a microscope were all focuses this week. Lower graders continued our study of bones and the skeletal system. One part of our study was an egg drop. We learned about how important muscle mass and exercise is to bone health and strength. Then we did our best to create enough cushion to prevent an egg from dropping from a height of about 10 feet. All of the kids were able to do the drop successfully (some after some adjustments). What a cool experiment!

Friday we had our Thanksgiving Celebration, complete with the Turkey Bowl, our Spelling Bee, Thanksgiving dinner, our season of thankful prayer, and our special dessert with a Thanksgiving movie. All week we worked on a Thanksgiving Diorama, complete with a Wampanoag camp, a settler's camp, a soldier's camp, the ocean, and a forest! We have interactively experienced the First Thanksgiving, and are ready for next week's festivities! Please keep our students in your prayers as many will be traveling, and all will be interacting with friends and family. This is a time of the year when conflict and dissension are Satan's major tools to destroy fun and unity. I pray that each of us have a time of prayer and celebration that leaves us more closely bonded than before! God bless each of you! Happy Thanksgiving!
