A NOTE FROM DR. STEIN

Brrrrr! It's cold out there! This week the temperatures plummeted and we felt the chill! It was time to break out the winter jackets and wear our scarves! But, thankfully, our heat in the school works well, so we were able to sit cozy and continue our work! Praise the Lord that we are able to afford heat at this time of year.

We had such a fun time at our Night School Extravaganza this last Sunday! We had a special study of nocturnal creatures. We had a nature exploration session in the woods and hills surrounding the property. We were able to find several possible homes of the animals that make their homes around us. We found scat, chewed up leaves, gathered animal hair, and perfect holes in the ground. After our search we played games that mimicked animal movements. We played Bats and Moths (with a blindfold and the concept of echo-location), we played Deer in a Field, and we played Cat Eyes. Lastly, we studied the constellations and were able to look through our telescope to locate stars, planets, and our moon! What a blessing to have a whole day devoted to science and exploration.

Another fun event we are preparing for is the Valentine's Banquet. Are you planning on attending? Would you enjoy an evening with lasagna, entertainment, and free childcare? Put it on your calendar for Sunday evening, February 17, at 5PM. We also are preparing to visit you! We will be at the Concord Church on April 6 to help with the service/share our music, and at the Salisbury Church on April 13! Following these performances will be our special Easter Play on Easter Sunday, April 21 @4PM. This play will be a dramatic re-enactment of our Lord's final moments on earth, his death, and his resurrection. You won't want to miss it!
