A NOTE FROM DR. STEIN

What a week it has been! This week we had a fun and special PE day! Monday we met in the early morning hours, had a special prayer before we set off on our adventure! 21 people trailed up to the mountain. Once there we checked in, got all of our ski gear, and assembled for our ski lessons. All of us (even our Kindergartners) were able to ski down the hill alone by the end of the day! What a fun and exciting adventure it was! We returned without injuries and a grand time was had by all! Praise the Lord for His faithfulness and traveling mercies.

This week we also embarked on a money and saving unit. In Social Studies we are studying budgeting, money, paying tithe, and stewardship. Each student chose a profession that they might like to be when they are older. We had a veterinarian, a fireman, a construction worker, a lawyer, and others. Then we proceeded to budget our money based on the basic costs of living. It was interesting to see some of the choices the students made. Some thought that their personal money should be spent on pets, some wanted to own their own business, others wanted to save it. I took videos of some of the projects. To view these, check out our Facebook page 'Salisbury Adventist School.' Be sure to like our page!

A week from tomorrow is our Valentine's banquet! Can you believe it's that close? We are planning for the people who have RSVP'd, but we know some of you don't know for sure if you'll be free. Please come, even if you haven't had a chance to register (but there's still time, if you'd like to lol). There will be delicious food, music, a game, and 2 child classes (one for 11 and under, and a teen class for 12+). Come support our school! We need your involvement!
