A NOTE FROM DR. STEIN

The wind is blowing, the sun is shining, and every day this week has been a 'picnic day' at school! We eat down by the creek, where we can listen to the wind rustling through the trees and hear the flowing waters. With such magnificent beauty all around us, is it any wonder that we get homesick for heaven? How much more beautiful heaven will be! Without the sin, pain, and sickness there to mar it!

This week in Science the upper graders have been studying the light spectrum and our ability to see colors. We also reviewed body systems and what they do for us. Social studies was centered around the judicial system, juries, and justice. Upper graders are also looking at Early Christianity and the split between the Roman Catholic Church and the Greek Orthodox Church. How fascinating it all is!

Our Easter Play was a success, and our preparations paid off in big measure. We heard reports of emotional connections with the Holy Spirit, and a renewed appreciation for Christ's sacrifice. What more could we ask for?

Last Friday we celebrated the Israelite custom of Passover, complete with Bible Recitation and a Biblical account of the first Passover. Ms. Gabriel led out in the ceremonies, and even brought her special, authentic prayer shawls for us to wear! We loved learning about the ceremony, and completed a foot washing ceremony in place of the traditional hand washing. One area it was different than the traditional way is that the Messiah has already redeemed us! We are now waiting on his return, not on his initial arrival! Our final grape juice toast was to drink again in heaven, around that heavenly table, and to be able to clink our glasses with Jesus. What a day that will be! Hallelujah!
